Theme: Integrated Addressing in the Public Sector: Is it possible? – Come join us for a look at what your peers are doing in our area regarding addressing. There are County Assessor data standards, E-911/NENA data requirements, and local government data (utility billing, permitting, CMSS, etc.) that must be dealt with. How do we share data and integrate these apparently disparate data standards within our decision support applications, including GIS? Is a master address repository the answer? What is needed, and how do we create a system to work with our business processes?

This chapter meeting will try to answer these questions with presentations and a panel discussion with local agencies representatives. They will share their experience with the challenges and solutions used to create a workable land records systems across the enterprise.
